

ignore

dangerous

style

passion

challenge

underestimate

proficient

heed

If you refuse to pay attention to something you ignore it.

If something is likely to cause harm or injury it is dangerous.

If you have a certain way of doing something that way is your style.

If you do something with energy and strong feelings you do it with passion.

If you ask someone to be in a contest you challenge him or her.

When you think that something will be easier that it really is you underestimate it.

When you are very good at doing something you are proficient at it.

If you listen to a warning and use it to help you do something you heed the warning.

Lesson 1

