If something prevents you from getting into a place it is a blockade.

When you don't give someone something that they've asked for you deny them what they want.

When a cloth takes in water and becomes wet it has soaked up the water.

When you think very carefully about an idea you consider it.

When something is in the wrong place it is misplaced.

When you have strong ideas about something you are opinionated.

The things you believe about what is right and what is wrong are your principles.

When you talk about the size and weight of a large object you are talking about its bulk.
